

IQAC Report Teaching and learning courses

EVALUATIONON PROCESS AND REFORMS.

- A) The college strictly is adhering with the SPPU norms as far as the evaluation process is concerned. The students are made aware regarding the process of evaluation by means of prospectus issued at the time of admission. Also from time to time the notices are displayed on the notice board and circulated in the class for the purpose of examination. We have developed the APP through which notices are sent on mobile phones of the students. The faculty members are well versed with the evaluation process.
- B) The university has introduced credit based courses at PG level which are adopted by the college. These credit based course at PG level were introduced in the year 2013-2014. The subjects like Cyber Crime Awareness, Human rights are introduced to PG level. They are taught and evaluated as per the SPPU rules and regulations.
- C) The college at its level carry the effective working if implementation from time to time. The examination department work for that the students are informed in advance regarding such examination. The teachers also take the part in evaluation work. The college has the special examination department headed by the CHIEF EXAMINATION OFFICER who is the examination in charge he is assisted by the administrative staff .We ensure effective implementation of the evaluation procedure. We ensure full participation by our teachers in such evaluation process.
- D) The student's achievement at various levels is assessed by means of definite procedure prescribed by the university. We follow the continuous assessment program which includes the due weightage to oral examination plus term end examination and at the end of the year annual examination. Separate minimum score in all these examinations is essential for passing in the respective year. The science and PG courses have semester patter where the similar method is adopted. This pattern has resulted in some of the positive aspect .A) The attendance of the students is increased and they remain attentive in the classroom B)The teacher and student interaction has been increased which help in better understanding of views of each other

C) At the commencement of each examination there is alertness in the mind of the students as they are to gain minimum score at each examination so there is better interaction among the students themselves and also among the students and teachers

D) If for any student there is an unfortunate failure he can gain the score in the rest of the examinations so there is a chance of the improvement

E) The teacher is having interaction with the students regarding the achievement of the student and he is suggesting the remedial measures for improvement

F) the students who are absent for any one examination prior to the annual examination cannot lose entire one academic year

.G) The system has positively impacted on the entire course of the UG and PG level and the student have shown all possible faith in the new system of continuous assessment of the students.

E) The college has the transparency in the conduct of examinations and also in the process of evaluation. The college after examination even for internal examination follow the Central Assessment Program at college level. This facilitates the timely results of all program .If any student has any doubt on his demand he is provided with the photocopy of his assessed answer paper. Still his doubt continues he has option to demand for the revaluation of his answer sheet. This help to create the faith in the system of assessment. The due weightage is given to independent learning and communication skills. The communication skill is assessed by means of oral examinations and individual learning in the practical examinations of the students. So care is taken for the real assessment of the students.

F) The graduate from various stream has various attributes. Arts, Commerce and computer science& science has different attribute. These are to be attained by the college student.(the detailed to be taken by understanding the meaning of attributes)

G) The mechanism for redressal of grievances in relation to evaluation at college and university level has the same mechanism.

a) The student along with the photocopy of result sheet has to apply for revaluation within 15 days from the declaration of the result to the examination department of the SPPU/examination department of the college as the case may be.

- b) The student is provided with the photo copy of the answer sheet for his reference.
- c) If he is not satisfied his answer books are reassessed by the university or college. And the change in marks if any is communicated to the students. For this purpose at college level separate Chief Examination Officer is appointed as per the guide lines of the SPPU.
- a) The teaching learning process is continuously reviewed and the corrective measures are undertaken if required. The academic procedure is followed by the college. The feedback is taken from the students and the required changes are made.
- b) The various outcome of the quality assurance is communicated to all by means of the notification of the results. However the more emphasis is given on informal discussions across the faculty. This provide broad for improvement in the present structure of quality assurance.

On 07/09/2016 our College conducted a workshop for the students of Commerce on Intellectual Property Rights and was pleased to invite Prof. Advocate Sanjay Murkute to share the objectives, provisions and rights involved in Intellectual Property. On the aforesaid date he delivered a lecture to the students of T.Y.B.Com in respect of the abovesaid subject matter specially on the objectives and laws of Copyright which is as follows;

Intellectual property (or "IP") refers to the patents, copyrights and other intangible assets in India. IP is a category of property that includes intangible creations of the human intellect, and primarily encompasses copyrights, patents, and trademarks. It also includes other types of rights, such as trade secrets, publicity rights, moral rights, and rights against unfair competition. Artistic works like music and literature, as well as some discoveries, inventions, words, phrases, symbols, and designs can all be protected as intellectual property. Intellectual property law has evolved over centuries. It was not until the 19th century that the term "intellectual property" began to be used, and not until the late 20th century that it became commonplace in the majority of the world.

Indian government approved its first National Intellectual Property Rights Policy in May 2016 to ensure compliance to the Doha Development Round and TRIPS Agreement, it aims at creating a "Creative India; Innovative India".

The main purpose of intellectual property law is to encourage the creation of a wide variety of intellectual goods. To achieve this, the law gives people and businesses property rights to the information and intellectual goods they create, usually for a limited period of time. Because they can then profit from them, this gives economic incentive for their creation.

The intangible nature of intellectual property presents difficulties when compared with traditional property like land or goods. Unlike traditional property, intellectual property is indivisible – an unlimited number of people can "consume" an intellectual good without it being depleted. Additionally, investments in intellectual goods suffer from problems of appropriation – while a landowner can surround their land with a robust fence and hire armed guards to protect it, a producer of information or an intellectual good can usually do very little to stop their first buyer from replicating it and selling it at a lower price. Balancing rights so that they are strong enough to encourage the creation of information and intellectual goods but not so strong that they prevent their wide use is the primary focus of modern intellectual property law.

Copyright:-

A copyright gives the creator of an original work exclusive rights to it, usually for a limited time. Copyright may apply to a wide range of creative, intellectual, or artistic forms, or "works". Copyright does not cover ideas and information themselves, only the form or manner in which they are expressed.

The "Copyright Act, 1957" (as amended by the Copyright Amendment Act 2012) governs the subject of copyright law in India. The history of copyright law in India can be traced back to its colonial era under the British Empire. The Copyright Act, 1957 was the first post-independence copyright legislation in India and the law has been amended six times since 1957. The most recent amendment was in the year 2012, through the Copyright (Amendment) Act 2012

The Copyright Act 1957 (as amended by the Copyright Amendment Act 2012) governs the subject of copyright law in India. The Act is applicable from 21 January 1958. The history of copyright law in India can be traced back to its colonial era under the British Empire. The Copyright Act 1957 was the first post-independence copyright legislation in India and the law has been amended six times since 1957. The most recent amendment was in the year 2012, through the Copyright (Amendment) Act 2012. India is a member of most of the important international conventions governing the area of copyright law, including the Berne Convention of 1886 (as modified at Paris in 1971), the Universal Copyright Convention of 1951, the Rome Convention of 1961 and the Agreement on Trade Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights (TRIPS). But India is not a member of the WIPO Copyright Treaty (WCT) and the WIPO Performances and Phonograms Treaty (WPPT).

Copyright is a bundle of rights given by the law to the creators of literary, dramatic, musical and artistic works and the producers of cinematograph films and sound recordings. The rights provided under Copyright law include the rights of reproduction of the work, communication of the work to the public, adaptation of the work and translation of the work. The scope and duration of protection provided under copyright law varies with the nature of the protected work.

In a 2016 copyright lawsuit, the Delhi High Court states that copyright is "not an inevitable, divine, or natural right that confers on authors the absolute ownership of their creations. It is designed rather to stimulate activity and progress in the arts for the intellectual enrichment of the public. Copyright is intended to increase and not to impede the harvest of knowledge. It is intended to motivate the creative activity of authors and inventors in order to benefit the public.

Exceptions to Copyright infringement:-

The Copyright Act 1957 exempts certain acts from the ambit of copyright infringement. While many people tend to use the term fair use to denote copyright exceptions in India, it is a factually wrong usage. While the US and certain other countries follow the broad fair use exception, India follows a different approach towards copyright exceptions. India follows a hybrid approach that allows-

(i) fair dealing with any copyrighted work for certain specifically mentioned purposes and

(ii) certain specific activities enumerated in the statute.

While the fair use approach followed in the US can be applied for any kind of uses, the fair dealing approach followed in India is clearly limited towards the purposes of:-

- (i) private or personal use, including research, and education,
- (ii) criticism or review,
- (iii) reporting of current events and current affairs, including the reporting of a lecture delivered in public.

While the term fair dealing has not been defined anywhere in the Copyright Act 1957, the concept of 'fair dealing' has been discussed in different judgments, including the decision of the Supreme Court of India in Academy of General Education v. B. Malini Mallya (2009) and the decision of the High Court of Kerala in Civic Chandran v. Ammini Amma. [28]

In September 2016, the Delhi High Court ruled in Delhi University's Rameshwari Photocopy Service shop case, which sold photocopies of chapters from academic textbooks was not infringing on their publisher's copyright, arguing that the use of copyright to "stimulate activity and progress in the arts for the intellectual enrichment of the public" outweighed its use by the publishers to maintain commercial control of their property. However, in December 2016, the ruling was reversed and taken back to court, citing that there were "triable issues" in the case.

Remedies:-

The Copyright Act 1957 provides three kinds of remedies - administrative remedies, civil remedies and criminal remedies. The administrative remedies provided under the statute include detention of the infringing goods by the customs authorities. The civil remedies are provided under Chapter XII of the Copyright Act 1957 and the remedies provided include injunctions, damages and account of profits. The criminal remedies are provided under Chapter XIII of the statute and the remedies provided against copyright infringement include imprisonment (up to 3 years) along with a fine (up to 200,000 Rupees).

Jurisdiction [Place of Suing] Under Copyright Act, 1957 - Recently in 2015 the Jurisdiction law regarding Copyright Violation has gone a drastic change by the following judgement of the Hon'ble Supreme Court - Jagdish Singh Khehar and Arun Mishra, JJ. - Civil Appeal Nos. 10643 - 10644 of 2010 with 4912 of 2015 [arising out of SLP [c] No. 8253 of 2013], Dated 01/07/2015 - Indian Performing Rights Society Ltd. Vs. Sanjay Dalia and another - - Copyright Act [14 of 1957], Section 62 - Trade Marks Act [47 of 1999], Section 134 - Civil Procedure Code Section 20 - Suit for infringement of Copyright of Trade Mark - Place of suing - Place where plaintiff resides or carries on business or works for gain - Is an additional forum made available to plaintiff by Section 62 of 1957 Act and Section 134 of 1999 Act - Applicability of Section 20 of Civil Procedure Code is not completely ousted thereby - If cause of action has arisen wholly or in part in place where plaintiff resides or is doing business suit has to be filed at such place - Plaintiff cannot drag defendant to far off place under guise that he carries business there also. --- Interpretation of statutes - Mischief Rule - Construction that suppresses even counter mischief has to be adopted. - Interpretation of statutes - words notwithstanding anything contained in any other law - do not always completely exclude applicability of other law. ---- Words and phrases - "Notwithstanding anything contained --- being in force" - Do not necessarily exclude applicability of other law.

Benefits:- The crux of the intellectual property rights: to give credit where, and when, it is due. With the emergence of the knowledge society and virtual products, the issue of safeguarding the investment in the information-based products has certainly gained high importance. We, as consumers or producers in the information chain, cannot afford to be ignorant about the intellectual property rights!! Thus protection of Intellectual Property Rights (or IPR) has definite (tangible) benefits, such as to propagate innovative culture, profitability, market leadership and helps creation of wealth for the individual and the nation. India falling one among the developing countries have miles to go, as she has a vulnerable collection of traditional, oral, folklore, customary, agricultural, traditional medicinal like Ayurveda etc. and besides not having much wealth and infrastructure, lack of awareness of IPRs among all stratas of people, is a major set back to a developing country like India

2016-17

S. Y. B.Sc. mentor meeting was held on 22/07/2016 . As mentioned in notice maximum students of S. Y. B.Sc. attended the meeting & discussed their problems with class teacher.

There was main problem regarding teaching language. Some students didn't get to the particular subject teacher because most students are from Marathi medium . So they didn't get the teacher. So I gave suggestion to concern teachers that they should explain subject in both Marathi as well as in English.

Some students told about, class sitting arrangements, because student number is more than availability of benches in class, so they are complaining about space availability in class. So I got arranged some extra benches in the classroom as required.

In this way we discussed about problems & resolve it.

Mentor meeting report-2

2016-17

S. Y. B.Sc. mentor meeting held on 17/01/2017. As mentioned in notice maximum students of S. Y. B.Sc. class attended the meeting & discussed their problems with class teacher. Students have different problems.

Economic condition of some students was very weak. So they couldn't submit their admission fees before due date. So I gave the suggestion to join earn & learn scheme in the college.

Some students told that they are doing job as their economic condition is not so good, they want to adjust their practical batches according to their job time, I took action in this problem and adjusted their batches.

I also gave some suggestions to their personal problems.

In this way we discussed about problems & resolve it.
